Sports Day Tomorrow Features Seven Events

Varied Program
Includes Track,
Archery, Softball

With entry blanks boasting full fields in every event, the Intramural department will stage its inaugural Sports Day program tomorrow. Only the weather man can keep a well-rounded sports program from being a success and old Jupiter Pluvius has promised to take his Saturday holiday somewhere else.

The program, according to C. W. Hackensmith, intramural director, is designed to give everyone a chance to participate with events in track, fencing, archery, basketball, badminton mixed doubles ping pong singles and the consolation final of the softball tournament scheduled for the afternoon.

The softball game, scheduled to get under way at 4 p. m., will pit the ATOs and Phi Taus matched together in the one-game loser's end of a double-elimination tournament. The ATOs lost their first game of the season Wednesday afternoon when the Sigma Nus beat them.

BALLETCASTING
Balletcasting, a new event on the intramural sports calendar, will offer awards to three best contestants and the event will start the afternoon's program off at 1 p. m. along with the finals in the track meet.

Eliminations in the track have been going on all week and this event will find intramural participants entering the 100-yard, 220-yard and 880-yard dashes with the discus throw and shot put rounding out the track meet. Don Hillenmeyer, Phi Delta, won the pole vault with a jump of 10 feet and Carl Althaus, DTD, took the high jump finals last Wednesday afternoon.

Competition in the ping pong singles has been divided into two groups with the women participating in one tournament and the men competing in another. The winners of runners up will play for the championship. Awards will be offered in the separate tournaments.

FENCING
Fencing is slated to get underway at 1:30 p. m. in the Gym annex with the competition conducted in a round robin tournament. Awards will be given to the winner and runner-up.

The tournament in badminton mixed doubles will start at 1 p. m. at the Gym annex. Twelve teams will compete for the awards given to the winner and runner-up.

A complete schedule of the events includes:

1. Finals in the track meet, 1 p. m. Stoll Field
2. Fencing 1:30 p. m. Gym annex
3. Archery 2:30 p. m. in front of the Gym
4. Horse-shoe pitching, all afternoon, University high school courts
5. Ballet Casting, 1 p. m. Intramural field
6. Badminton Mixed Doubles, 1 p. m. Gym annex
7. Ping Pong Singles, 2:30 p. m. Women's gym

Dairy Club Elects Luckett

Cyril Luckett, Lebanon, agriculture junior, was elected president of the Dairy club at its regular meeting Tuesday night. Other officers elected for the next year are: Paul Robins, vice-president; Evan Ray Russell, secretary; Don Kells, treasurer; Edwin Stamper, reporter; and John Crowe, sergeant-at-arms.

Retiring officers are: Clifton Hardesty, president; Louise Marker, vice-president; Chester L. Brown, secretary; and Tom Pettus, treasurer.

Commissioned ROTC Grads May Be Called To Active Duty

All ROTC cadets eligible for reserve commissions upon graduation this spring will probably be called into active service unless granted deferment by the War Department. Lieut. Col. A. R. Sanders, advanced ROTC instructor, told The Kernel yesterday.

Immediate drafting of ROTC graduates into active service was disclosed in the unprecedented step by the War Department this week when it announced plans to call to active duty more than 8,000 young officers immediately after their graduation from college ROTC courses.

Lieut. Col. Sanders reported that of the 48 University students eligible for commissions "many" had requested deferment so as to be able to complete their college courses and that deferment had already been granted to one student by the War Department.

ROTC CAMPS

The ROTC drafting was announced in connection with the fixing of dates for 11,391 cadets. Approximately 20 University first-year advanced students are scheduled to attend training camp this summer at Fort Knox.

The location of army posts to which University ROTC graduates will be assigned is not yet known.

Liberal deferments of college students registered for the draft, who are studying in the fields of engineering, agriculture, medicine, dentistry, and several other fields vital to defense activity, has been promised by Col. Frank D. Rash, state selective service director.

MORE VALUABLE

Colonel Rash explained that national and state headquarters agreed that such students might be more valuable to the nation if allowed to complete their studies than if they were drafted for immediate military service.

Colonel Rash counseled such students to obtain and fill out "students' statements of information" and have officials of their colleges detail their standing, courses, occupational objectives in an affidavit and file both documents with their local draft boards for reference.

YM-YW CABINETS WILL DISCUSS NEW PROGRAM

Weekend Camp
On Kentucky River
Begins Tomorrow

Members of the YWCA and YMCA retiring and incoming cabinets will retreat to Camp Daniel Boone on the Kentucky river at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow for a weekend of planning their program. They will discuss (1) what the YW-YM should do on the University campus, (2) what it has done, and (3) what it will do next year.

Committees for the annual retreat follow: Walter Lee, Bob Spragens, Valden Cox, Alice Wooton, and Jessie Francis, camp; Mary Frank Wiley, Jeff Prewitt, and Jean Ewers, food; Glenn Mohney, transportation; Jeanette Graves, registration; and John Long, Betty South, Bill Karraker, and Gladys Kilpatrick, program.

Cabinet members planning to attend are Dorothy D. Vaughn, Mary Rion, Eloise Palmero, Kay Ellison, Mary Frank Wiley, Carolyn Spier, Billie Raymond, Shirley Hutchins, Jeanette Graves, Alice Wooton, Mary Olive Davis, Mildred Murray, Jeanne Lancaster, Mary Garner, Josephine Andres, Jean Ewers, Anne Gladys Kilpatrick, Betty South, Crutcher, Dorothy Paul, and Jessie Francis, YWCA.

John Long, Bob Davis, Glenn Mohney, A. W. Roland, Fred Erwin, Russell Roland, George Shelly, Valden Cox, Bruce Price, Asher Seal, Joe Massie, Jeff Prewitt, Joe Baldwin, Bill Campbell, Bob Conway, John Carson, Bill Karraker, Bob Spragens, Walter Lee, YMCA; and Doris Seward and Bart Peak, executive secretaries.

Class Presents Mitchell Portrait To Training School

An oil painting of Prof. John Stapp Mitchell, former principal of the training school, was presented to the school yesterday by the senior class. The portrait, which will be placed in the school auditorium, was accepted by Prof. J. D. Williams, director of the University training school.

FINAL MEETING OF CHEMISTS

Bartlett To Speak At Dinner Session

Dr. Paul D. Bartlett, associate professor of chemistry, Harvard University, will address the Lexington section of the American Chemical society on "Some Chemical Reactions Involving Hydrogen Bonding by Phenols and Alcohols" at its regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. in room 214, Kastle hall, Dr. J. L. Gabbard, secretary, announced yesterday.

This will be the Chemical society's last meeting of the year, and election of officers for the ensuing year will follow Dr. Bartlett's address. A dinner at 6 p. m. in the Union building will precede the meeting. Reservations for the dinner should be made with Dr. Gabbard by noon Monday.

Dr. Bartlett received his Bachelor of Science degree from Amherst college, and did graduate work at Harvard for his Master's and Doctor's degrees. He has been connected with the chemistry department of Harvard since 1934, doing research in stereochemistry and the mechanisms of organic reactions.

LANDRUM TO BE BAR ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT

Also Chosen Are Redwine, Barrickman

Charles M. Landrum, Lexington, was elected president of the Student Bar association at a meeting Wednesday in Lafferty hall. He succeeds Virgil Beasley, Lexington. Others chosen were Marcus Redwine, Winchester, vice-president; Uhol Barrickman, Bedford, treasurer; and Helen Stephenson, Hopkinsville, secretary.

Outgoing officers, besides Beasley, are Howard Clay, Paintsville, vice-president; Phil Phillips, Paintsville, treasurer; and George Evans, Richmond, secretary.

24 WOMEN WIN RIBBONS IN FLORAL SHOW

Union, Honorary,
Home Ec Club
Sponsor Contest

Twenty-four coeds won honors in the second annual floral display and flower arranging contest, sponsored by the Home Economics club and Phi Upsilon Omicron Wednesday in the Union building.

Winners of first, second, and third prize blue, red, and white ribbons in the various divisions of the contest are: nursery, Sonia Berkowitz, Rosalie Herman, and Marie Brackett; breakfast table, Dorothy Hill and Marie Brackett; living room table, Jane Cramer, Mary Ann Farbach, and Agnes Jennings.

Bridal luncheon, Sonia Berkowitz and Mary Ann Farbach; informal tea table, Anne Ricketts, Janet Ferguson, and Kate Woods; formal dining table, Anne Ricketts; living room mantle, Anne Ricketts; summer cabin, Marie Brackett, Sonia Berkowitz, and Kate Woods; porch and terrace, Sonia Berkowitz, Agnes Jennings, and Anne Ricketts; and bedroom table, Kate Woods, Dorothy Hill, and Marie Brackett.

Mining Society To Picnic Saturday

The Norwood Mining and Metallurgical society will leave Mechanical hall at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow for its annual picnic at Boonesboro. It was announced by William D. Danks, secretary of the organization.

Among the guests who are expected to attend the outing are Dean W. E. Freeman, acting head of the engineering college; Dr. O. T. Koppus, of the Physics department; D. J. Jones, state geologist; G. M. Patterson, state inspector of mines and H. Comer Wolf, Irvine, consulting engineering. Prof. C. S. Crouse, faculty advisor for the organization, will also accompany the group.

Softball and swimming will be the club's afternoon entertainment. Dinner will be at Boonesboro hotel. Fifty-five members and guests are expected to attend.

ANNUAL CONTEST WILL REWARD BEST LIBRARIES

Judge Wilson
To Offer Prizes
For Collections

Candidates for prizes in the annual student library contest must register their intention of competing by Thursday, May 15, Margaret King, chief librarian, announced yesterday.

Judge Samuel M. Wilson of Lexington, offers $50 to be paid to undergraduates presenting the best libraries of their own scope, choosing and ownership. The winner will receive $30 and $20 will go to the second place entrant.

Rules governing the contest are:

1. The contestants for the prizes must have been in attendance at the University for at least two years. In case the contestant enters the University in the junior year, registration in the semester to graduation will be counted as a part of the two years.

2. Any library entered in the competition must contain not fewer than fifty volumes, and all books must be owned by the student entering the library.

TEXT BOOKS EXCLUDED
3. Ordinary text-books for class room use and books of a highly technical nature will be excluded from consideration.

4. Emphasis is placed on the choice of books and the scope of the collection.

5. Individual taste and initiative will be emphasized, and no set pattern is required.

GOOD CONDITION
6. The books must be in good condition, with allowance for volumes of age or scarcity.

7. The student must be able to tell why he has chosen the books, and must be able to give a fair and intelligent account of the contents of the books.

8. The Committee on Awards, three persons appointed by the president of the University, will make personal inspection of all libraries entered in the competition.

PRIZES
9. The prizes will be awarded the latter part of the second semester.

10. Information may be secured from the Student Library Prize committee.

Miss King is chairman of the prize committee, other members of which are Dr. Thomas D. Clark of the history department and Dr. George K. Brady of the English department.

Receives Fellowship

Charles T. Wilkins, English instructor, has received a fellowship at Vanderbilt university for the 1941-42 session. To do graduate work in the field of English, he received his B. A. degree from the University.

Selective Service Developments Will Be Revealed

Important developments in Selective Service Act, especially affecting students taking training in specialized courses will be revealed at a meeting of all men students at 7 p. m. May 15 in Memorial Hall.

An explanation of the University's place in national defense will also be made at the meeting. President Thomas P. Cooper announced yesterday. Although details of the new selective service regulations can not be announced until the meeting, the changes are roughly an extension of the ruling allowing deferment of medical students until completion of their courses. President Cooper said. Deferment will be extended to include students in a wider group of specialized training, he added.

The meeting will be in charge of the University defense council: Prof. W. S. Webb, chairman. Professors C. C. Carpenter, C. S. Crouse, George Roberts, Jesse E. Adams, A. E. Evans and Mrs. Alberta W. Server.

HOLMES TO HEAD COMMITTEE

Group Will Plan Summer Recreation

Members of the summer session extra-curricular activities committee, whose duties will include arrangement of convocations, concerts, receptions, tours, and social events, have been announced by Dr. Jesse E. Adams, director of the summer session.

These chosen were Mrs. Harrah B. Holmes, chairman; Misses Rebecca Van Meter, Margaret Lester, Alberta Limbach, Chole Clifford, Mrs. Mary K. Kouns, Robson D. McIntyre, Alexander Capurso, Thomas Hanks, L. J. Horlacher, O. T. Koppus, Morris Scheraga, Bart Peak, and M. G. Karsner.

More Defense Courses Scheduled For Summer

Again entering the nation's defense program, the University yesterday scheduled a series of seven engineering defense training courses to begin about June 10. It was announced by Prof. D. V. Terrell, institutional representative.

No tuition will be charged students taking the classes, which will be held two nights a week for twelve weeks. Only expenses will be books and supplies.

Although no college credit is given for the courses, certificates of completion will be given by the federal government.

APPLICATIONS

Applications should be in Prof. Terrell's office not later than May 20. Requirements for the courses will be announced.

The engineering courses are principally for graduate engineers now employed. "However, students going to summer school should take advantage of the courses," Prof. Terrell said.

Courses to be offered are advanced engineering drawing, advanced architectural drawing, fundamentals of strength of materials, steam power plant testing, radio communications, sheet metal design, and principles of reinforced concrete design.

ENGINEERING DRAWING

The course in advanced engineering drawing is designed to give additional training in engineering drawing as well as the elementary principles of machine design. Prof. L. E. Nollau will teach it.

The advanced architectural drawing as well as the elementary principles of machine design. Prof. L. E. Nollau will teach it.

The advanced architectural drawing, under E. B. Farris, is designed to give students a course dealing with the plans, layout and elementary principles of building design, including construction, materials, and building equipment.

The object of the course in fundamentals of strength of materials is the design of machine parts.

NEUTRALS TAKE THREE PLACES

Freshman Officers Will Be Filled
By Incoming Class

The Constitutionalist party, fraternity and sorority combine, gained a two-thirds majority in the student legislature by winning 12 seats in Wednesday's election. Results released yesterday showed.

The Independent Association won 5 seats and neutral candidates won 3 of the twenty positions contested in the election. Of the two freshman representatives who officers were not subject to the election one is connected with the Constitutionals.

Winning candidates, announced by retiring SGA president Bob Allen yesterday afternoon are:

ARTS AND SCIENCES

Arts and Sciences—Arthur Collins, George Nollau, Robert Ammons, Dave Kinnaird, Doris Reichenbach, Lida Belle Howe, Louise Wilson, and Ann Crutcher.

Agriculture—Joe A. Gayle, James Crowley, and Elizabeth Wigginton. Commerce—Robert Hillenmeyer, Arthur Walsh, and Betty Longworth.

Education—Miriam Krayer. Engineering—Jerry Mercer and Owens Dixon.

Law—Edwin F. Ockerman. Graduate school—Orville Leach and Richard P. Adams.

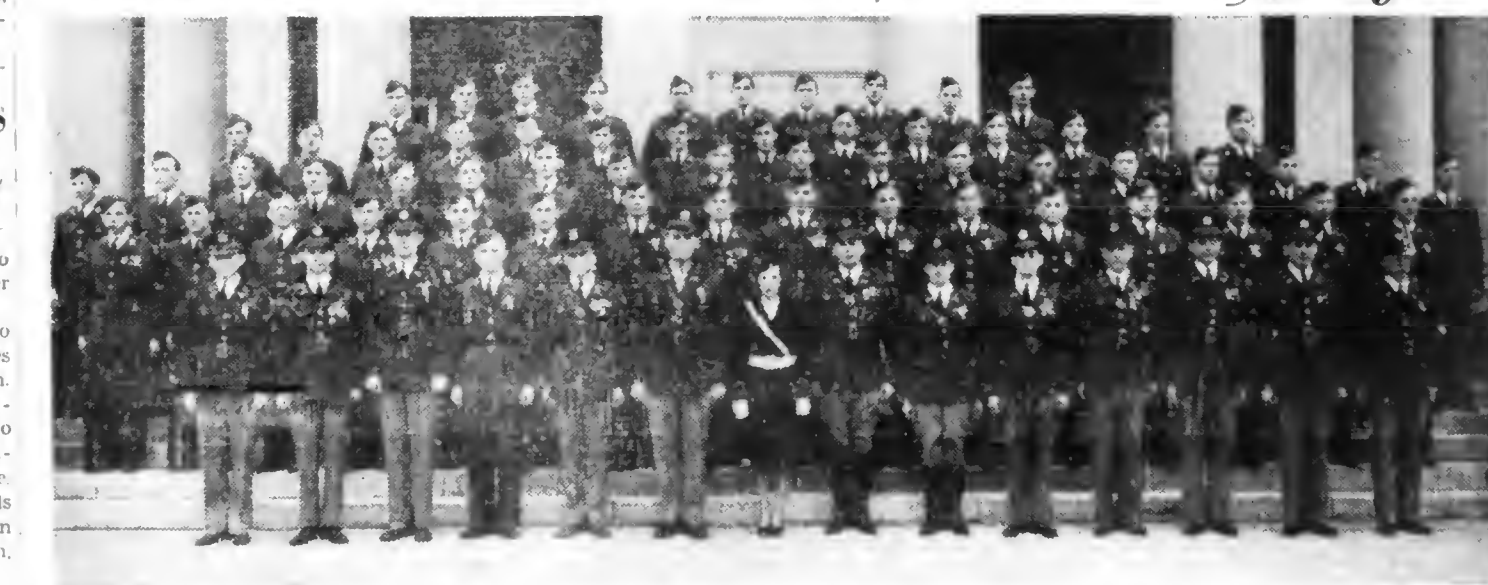

The newly elected legislature will be installed at 8 p. m. Tuesday night, retiring president Allen said.

To Vote on Acting President
Thomas P. Cooper's amendment in the controversial student loan bill which passed the SGA student legislature several weeks ago, the retiring legislature will meet at 7:30 Tuesday night.

Little opposition is expected to meet President Cooper's suggestion that Dean T. T. Jones act with the loan fund's administrative committee, Allen said yesterday. Ures of Rollins Wood and Russell Patterson, members of the student

'Let's Make It Ten!' Say Pershing Rifles

Adding for their tenth win in 11 starts in company competition of the first regiment, the University's Pershing Rifle drill unit will leave the campus this morning at 9 o'clock to participate in the regiment's eleventh annual two-day drill meet to be held at the University of Cincinnati.

The company, defending champions of the regiment and winner of 9 out of 10 meets in which they have participated, has been drilling since late September in preparation for this contest.

ed, and for the past two weeks has drilled one hour each day in order to iron out platoon errors and individual mistakes.

When questioned last night concerning the company's chances in the meet, Capt. Robt. H. Cloud said, "We know that the other companies entered in this year's competition are plenty good, but we know that we are just a little better than that. We are going down there to bring back our tenth victory if possible."

POLICE ESCORT

advisors, and Sgt. Henry Hoy, rifle team coach, the crack outfit will leave the armory in 26 private cars headed by a state police escort. The convoy will arrive in Cincinnati in time for a practice drill in the afternoon.

The meet will begin with a regimental parade of all companies at 7 o'clock on the drill field. Included in the night's program, besides the company competition, are drills by the exhibition platoon of Company C, the University's Confederate squad, and a counter antique drill by Ohio State's Varsity squad.

FORMAL DANCE

Following the competition drill there will be a formal dance for all companies in the Cincinnati Student Union building.

Individual competition and rifle matches will be held Saturday morning. The meet will end with the officer's banquet and presentation of awards Saturday noon at Hotel Sinton.

Besides trying for their tenth victory, the company will try for their third tie on the regimental revolving trophy which becomes into possession of the company winning three out of five meets.

'Then Came June' Shows Real Talent In Lexington's Billy Stucky

BEHIND IATED WALLS BY ALLEN E. WINER

Tim, by currently at the Guignol theater through Saturday evening at the considerably pleasant three-act comedy, "Then Came June," written and directed by William Stucky, Lexington, and staged by the Guignol players as a season's extra recognition of the young artist's remarkable talent.

The play opened a four-day stay Wednesday evening before an audience which accepted Mr. Stucky heartily, and after the final curtain the preponderant opinion was that the Lexington artist is a skilled writer and potentially a great actor.

There were, too, some dissenting opinions which held the piece up to criticism for its lack of any recognizable message and for several defects in the dialogue. Notwithstanding these, Mr. Stucky has written a good play.

THE SET IS VIRGINIA

The story is set in a Virginia

lodge, although the spirit of Virginia is somewhat lacking throughout, but this was very likely the fault of the players.

"Then Came June" is the story of two sisters of Virginia lineage who become involved in a rather spectacular battle over the hand of a young, traveling, and, at times, good-for-nothing playwright. The sisters are June, portrayed by blonde Catherine Taylor (a Henry Clay high school student) and Kitty Williams, played by University freshman Grace Ray Crawford. The patient and somewhat confused mother of the pair, Mrs. Williams, is acted by Annie Laurie Riley. The playwright, Tony Anthony, is played by Robert Clarke, Jr.

THE PLOT

The plot jells when playwright Anthony meets his competitor for Kitty's love, gladiator-shoe salesman Sam Morgan, exponent of the Bernard Macfadden school of Body-Beautiful and manly self-defense, and commonly known as just plain

"Stinky." The part is played by Gale Neal.

After confusion sets in gradually as Tommy Mason, a laugh-provoking whisper of a young swain despatched for "Hawward" (eletera, stumbles into the scene and becomes entangled with a champagne bottle and the social graces. Played nobly by Ian Campbell, this character almost ran away with the second and third acts.

Keith Lewis as Philippe, houseboy, and Dixie Wilcox as Nora, the maid, appeared on the stage but briefly, but left a fine impression on the audience.

THE AUTHOR

The author of "Then Came June" was educated in Lexington schools and at Yale university. He has been writing since he was nine, and has other successful stage and radio pieces to his credit.

Clay Lancaster is in charge of the Guignol set, and Evelyn Beard is in charge of costumes.

Film Will Show Dam Excavations

Shell heaps found in excavations of dam basins along the Tennessee river will be shown in a film at an open meeting of the Kentucky Archaeological society at 7:30 p. m. today in the lecture room of the Physics building.

Under the supervision of Dr. W. S. Webb, head of the anthropology department and consultant archaeologist for the Tennessee Valley authority, excavations of these shell heaps were made in 1934 in Wheeler Basin in North Alabama.

The film will show the methods used the extent of the sites, the laboratory analysis of the materials, and the use of the information in classrooms.

Big Week-End In Store For Kentucky 'Gators

MUSICAL M'ATTERINGS By Bill Penick

Name band fans will have a field day next week with T Dorsey playing in Cincinnati Sunday night. Woody Herman in Louisville Monday and Ella Fitzgerald here in Lexington Thursday. These are three of the top bands in the country today and their being in this section of the country is somewhat out of the ordinary.

It is no wonder such bands as these reach the top quickly and stay there year after year. Tommy Dorsey consistently has the Nation's most popular orchestra and has had for the past six years Herman has been on the upgrade for two years and is just now getting the credit he deserves. Ella achieved prominence while singing with Chick Webb and when Chick hit his last look, took over the band in her own name.

VARIETY IS THE WORD

These bands, and many others like them, don't base their programs on any one type of music. They offer the listener a variety, both in rhythm and in instrumentalization. Not so long ago T. Dorsey started featuring his vocal group, the Pied Pipers, on his arrangements of pop tunes. Soon thereafter, Bob Crosby organized the Bob-o-Links. Glenn Miller acquired the Modernaires and Charlie Barnet began using the Quintones, all small vocal units specializing in harmony.

Undoubtedly the retention of such groups increases sizeably the payroll of the bands, but they are willing to bear the expense in order to please their listeners.

Then too, these leading outfits usually feature some outstanding instrumentalists. The so-called Mickey Mouse bands, mentioned in our last column, seldom have any such outstanding men.

JD KEEPS IT UP
Jimmy Dorsey continues his steady stream of good sides with two fine new swing tunes and two sweet pops. Titles were An Real Man That's Groovy, The Things I Love and Ours and For All. Helen O'Connell sings the first two, while Bob Eberly handles the two sweet ones.

Woody Herman gives us some really interesting music with Intermezzo and Until Tomorrow. Intermezzo is the revived melody which is currently sweeping the country. Tomorrow is best known as Sammy Kaye's signature. Woody sings both.

A whisper that has grown into a fullsize yell of protest seems to keep repeating some words against the (tennis) Powers that be.

Freshman Engineers Depict 'Training At UK' In Book

By PATRICIA SNIDER
Deviating from the usual term papers on research and in special reports that make up the work of the freshman engineers' English section, the 29 members of section 1b-5 have each written a chapter of "Engineering Training at Kentucky," a book telling of the past and present of the engineering college.

The project, begun as a class assignment, will bring into one volume information about the college gleaned from old newspapers and catalogues and the memories of the professors.

Originally the plan was to have three typewritten copies made, one for the University library, one for the engineering library, and one for Prof. John L. Cutler, class instructor who has been adviser for the writing and organization.

Interest increased to such an extent that now 50 copies are being micrographed at the stenographic bureau and will be contributed to the authors, department heads in the engineering college, and to interested teachers and friends. Professor Cutler said.

Dedicated to Col. James H. Graham, dean of the college, and with a foreword by Professor Cutler explaining the project, the book gives first a birdseye view of the college, then the history, and finally a view of all departments that make up the college. There is a section set aside for the library, college societies, social activities, and "The Kentucky Engineer," college publication.

Interspersed among the writing are student-made illustrations of floor plans and front elevations of the engineering buildings.

HORINE VERIFIES REPORTS

Prof. J. S. Horine, supervisor of the freshman engineers' study hall, checked and verified the reports the students brought in, and offered suggestions as to sources of information.

"I want it strictly understood," Professor Cutler said, "that the work was done by the students themselves, and that everything was settled by a majority vote, without faculty interference."

Third Writer Criticizes Action Of UK's 'Boss Of The Courts'

Editor's note: This is the third letter we have received in the past week and a half expressing approximately the same thought. For the facts on the tennis court management and The Kernel's attitude toward the whole affair, see Raining Wild by John Carrigan on page 1.

To the Editor of The Kernel:

I have just recently read in your editorial column a letter which was sent to you evidently by a student in regard to the unfair manner in which the tennis courts at the University are being run.

As a graduate of the University of Kentucky in the class of '34 I feel that this student has brought to light a condition which has existed for many years. No one before has had the courage to speak out for fear of losing all tennis rights on the University courts.

The present caretaker of the tennis courts at the University has the sole right to say who shall play, what courts they can use, how long they can play, and when they shall start.

The above is perfectly satisfactory providing all students and alu-

"Kip Sam Ewing, who has been quote going steady with the Kentuckian unquote all year, has finally come up for air and has been seen quite frequently with Kappa Alpha Lambda.

Oddest sight of the week: the burr-heads emerging from the ATO house.

Burford Short has taken cute little Chio Edith Weisenberger out of circulation by putting his KA pin on her, and AGR Tom Pettus is boasting of planning the girl back home. The only unquoting of record this week is the case of KD Mary Lee Brockman vs Delta Chi Carmen Bodie.

Note to Dorothy Keith and Catherine Cooper: Claude Hammond is going steady with beautiful Athene Evans.

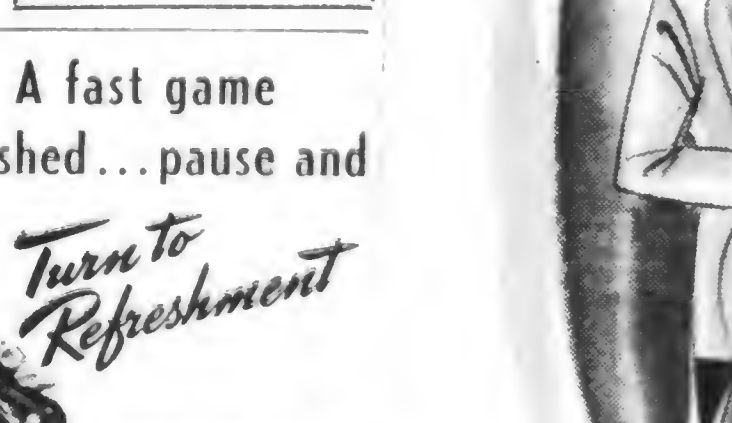

Nell Riee Wynm, who deserted the Bluegrass for the University of Missouri, came all the way to Louisville to meet Phi Delta Sundry Alverson at the Derby.

There were three Derby Day punies too interesting to comment upon: the Deltas cavorted at Biggest Staff; the Sigma Chis gambled at Grimes Mill and the Press Club (?) struggled down to Elk Lick Falls.

We wonder: if the unobtainable Fred Hill is aware of the flutter he causes among many feminine hearts on the campus; what happened between John Allen Duncan and Kappa Louise Wilson, who incidentally was at the Derby with old flame KA Shelby Shanklin; why the Sigma Chis are kidding prexy Bill Killea.

my views, complaints or otherwise. I am not interested in having the present caretaker put on the carpet but I am interested in having justice prevail not only "in the courts" but also "on the courts."

I feel that the letter which you received previously in this regard as well as my letter speak for the great majority of "average" tennis players who have attempted at one time or other to play tennis under the present "tennis court regime" only to be given a raw deal on the court selected and time permitted to play in favor of players who "stood in."

Running Wild

By JOHN CARRICO

As you've probably seen, there've been two letters to the editor published in The Kernel about some friction on the tennis courts. A third one appears today. It seems that all three writers complain of the injustice and discrimination of Lee Powers, caretaker of the university tennis courts. The letters assert that Powers has not only been unfair in letting courts, but that his manner has been offensive.

There are two sides to the question and we want to present both of them. On Powers' side this should be made known and considered; if it were not for the efforts of Dr. Downing, the tennis team coach, and Powers, there would probably be no University courts today.

Some years ago the University authorities desired to put a building on the site of the present courts. Dr. Downing fought this project tenaciously and finally won out; the location would be used for tennis courts, but no University money would be expended for them. Although there was no immediate prospect of gain, his reward being the money taken in by renting the courts, and payment for tennis equipment and stringing rackets.

The result of Dr. Downing's and Powers' work is the setup we have today: eleven courts, fences, a steam roller, and all the equipment needed for upkeep. All this has been accomplished on only $300 a year—the amount usually obtained from renting the courts.

On the other side this can be considered: there have been instances, and many of them, when Powers usurped his authority and discriminated in the renting of courts. He let certain people play on the better courts and forbade them to others, even though the courts were empty when the unfavored ones applied. He permitted some persons to play two or three hours in succession, while others were not granted this privilege.

Powers requires certain regulations in clothing to be fulfilled. In this he is certainly right; but, at the same time, he is following an outmoded restriction in enforcing these regulations. The gym clothing required by the physical education department was not used until recently—since Powers became caretaker. Powers will not tolerate the blue gym shorts because they were adopted after the rules to which he adheres.

WHAT THEY THINK

To get an idea of the situation, we asked fifteen people whom we had seen play frequently, what they thought of Powers' management. All replied unfavorably and stated that their main grievance was Powers' discrimination and embarrassing rebukes. We ourselves have been victims of his vitriolic tongue. We believe that the regulations must be enforced strictly, but we also insist that it can be done in a tactful and friendly manner. A modification of Powers' attitude would certainly lessen the trouble that has arisen.

FEW COURTS

As to the discrimination, the small amount of courts is partly to blame. Congestion of courts and consequent trouble is certain to result when only eleven courts are made to suffice for a student body of 3500 and the outsiders who also play.

Manager Bill McKechnie probably won't make any statement as Bill Terry did, but the way those hell-for-leather Brooklyn Dodgers have been knocking his Reds around, we'll bet he's wishing Brooklyn wasn't in the National league.

Thus the solution of the problem lies to a great extent in increasing the amount of courts. Only when this is done will everyone receive the same treatment and only then will complaints of discrimination cease. And it's up to the student body to make their wishes known.
